TODAY'S READING

Isaiah 50:4-9a

This passage is about an anonymous victim of persecution who does not waver in his trust in God. From early times, Christians have seen in it a foreshadowing of Jesus' suffering. Notice the power of the victim's non-resistance – both towards the tormentors and towards the persecution itself. He can even see his suffering as a gift from God, the route to great good. So it is with Jesus.
